Dogs were the first animals to be domesticated more than 10,000 years ago. They were used as watchdogs and work animals, guard livestock and to help hunt wild animals.

Today, many people keep dogs as pet companions. But dogs continue to work. They sniff out hidden explosives and victims, and guide blind people. Dogs take part in circuses, and sometimes even star in movies.

All dogs descend from wolves. People have bred dogs for many different purposes.

Kinds of dogs

Today, there are many different kinds of dogs. Some still look much like wolves. But most dogs look very different. There are many kinds of toy dogs, such as the poodle and the beagle.
